instructions

What You Need

- 2 pcs fabric measuring 42" x 42" each

What type of fabric can you use?

Technically you could use any type of fabric for this but since this is a baby blanket, you do want it to be soft and cuddly.

- We used flannel for one of the blankets (front and back) and for the other we used a combination of flannel (for the front) and Minky (for the back).

TOOLS USED IN THIS TUTORIAL

You can check the latest prices at Amazon by clicking on the links below:

- Creative Grids Ruler 8½" x 24½"
- Olfa 24" x 36" double-sided healing mat
- Olfa 60mm rotary cutter
- Oliso Iron
- Gutermann Sew-All thread

Method

- Place your two pieces of fabric right sides together and pin together.
- Sew around the edge with a ½" seam ensuring that you leave an opening on one side that measures around 5 or 6 inches.
- This will allow you to turn the blanket through.
- Backstitch at the start and the finish as this will help to secure the stitches when you are turning the blanket through.

- Clip the corners as shown in the video in order to reduce the bulk.
- This will help to create nice crisp corners.

TIP:

It can often be a good idea to turn the blanket through first before clipping the corners to ensure that everything has been caught up during your sewing.

- Reach into the opening and turn the blanket through so that the right sides are now facing outward.

- Press around the edges of the blanket and around the opening.
- Watch the video above for more info on how to do this.

- Now sew around the edge of the blanket with about an 1/8" seam. This will enclose the opening.
- You could also use a fancy stitch here if you prefer.

- Your baby blanket is now complete!
